J. W. WADSWORTH IS TO BE SPEAKER

Was Nominated Last Night by Republican Caucus and Will Be Elected When the New York Assembly Convenes. Merritt Snowed Under.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—James Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston county, son of Congressman James W. Wadsworth, of the 36th congressional district, and son-in-law of the late Secretary of State John Hay, was nominated tonight by the Republican caucus for speaker of the assembly and will be elected at that office tomorrow when the assembly convenes. His Democratic opponent will be George M. Palmer of Schoharie, who for many years has been minority leader of the assembly floor.

Mr. Wadsworth had to put out of 196 votes cast, Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of St. Lawrence, receiving 11 and 9 scattering. Mr. Merritt is the leader of the Republican minority in the present assembly and represents the strength of the Republican side in the assembly at present. The vote was taken by roll call, and there was no attempt to secure a secret ballot, as had been expected.

This result brings to a close one of the most remarkable speakership campaigns of recent years, characterized by marked factional bitterness and some unusual features. Mr. Wadsworth was not one of the candidates originally in the field, but was proposed by Governor Higgins in a formal statement, and in addition to the support of the governor, was regarded as having the approval of President Roosevelt. Mr. Merritt had the backing of Chairman B. B. Odell, Jr., and his friends in the state organization, who fought with determination for his election, taking that the defeat of Mr. Wadsworth

After learning the result of the caucus Governor Higgins said:

"I am not in disappointed or surprised. The voice of the people and of the press has been heard here, and the representatives of the people will, I assume, follow the sentiment expressed.

"I have no comment to make on the action of the Republican caucus," said Mr. Odell tonight, except to say that I am grateful for the generous [illegible] at all disheartened by the result.

Both houses of the legislature will [illegible] tomorrow. After the organization of the assembly the annual message of Governor Higgins will be read and the legislature will then adjourn probably for the week.

HOGAN IS BELIEVED TO BE STEUNENBERG'S MURDERER

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 2.—Under date of Caldwell, 9 p. m., The Statesman's representative sends the following:

"Captain Swayne has just made the following statement to the representative of The Statesman:

"You may notice that we have conclusive evidence that the bomb used in the assassination of Governor Steunenberg was manufactured in room No. 13 of the Saratoga hotel of the room occupied by Higgins, and that the details of the plan were probably formulated there."

It was further stated by the captain that in his opinion the evidence accumulated against Hogan was overwhelming. He did not feel justified in making much of it public, but he was willing to state that one feature was the finding of Hogan's shoes that he wore on the night of the murder. He would not say where these shoes were found, but stated they were not when discovered. The shoes had nails in the soles and these nails were found to fit perfectly into tracks which have all along been believed to have been made by the assassin while escaping from the scene.

Captain Sweyne said he did not expect to have any additional news tonight, but he would be up bright and early in the morning with some important work to be attended to. He gave the correspondent to understand that evidence at hand justified several additional arrests. Hogan, he believes, is guilty of manufacturing the bomb, at least. Vessels in his room, it develops, show a sediment of plaster of paris, this being one of the evidences of the kind of work he was doing there.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 2.—At Caldwell today, Hogan was brought into court and committed to the custody of the sheriff. He said he thought he could get counsel in two days and be prepared for his preliminary hearing.

There are two other suspects in jail there, and two more will arrive from Council tomorrow. Those at Council are F. Campbell and Harold Warren. The latter two were in Nampa last Friday when Hogan was there. Hogan carried some business cards reading "Thomas Hogan, Silverton, Colo., agent Mutual Life Insurance company."

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 2.—The funeral of ex-Governor Steunenberg was held today in Caldwell, his home town. Among those present were the governor and two ex-governors and all the other state officers. The feature of the services was a brief oration by former Congressman W. E. Borah at the request of the members of the family.

THE NEGRO IS ATTACKED

GOVERNOR VARDAMAN OF MISSISSIPPI OPPOSES EDUCATING COLORED PEOPLE.

ASKS LEGISLATURE TO AID CLAIM THAT THE BLACKS ARE DETERIORATING.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 2.—Governor James K. Vardaman in his annual message to the Mississippi legislature, which assembled today, again took a strong stand against spending public money for the education of the negro, saying in part:

"As I view the negro it is daily growing morally every day. Time has demonstrated that he is more criminal as a free man than as a slave, that he is increasing in criminality with fearful rapidity, being one third more criminal in 1890 than he was in 1880.

"In the south and in Mississippi in particular, I know he is growing worse every year. You can scarcely pick up a newspaper whose pages are not blackened with an account of an unmentionable crime committed by a negro brute and this crime, I want to impress upon you, is but the manifestation of the negro's aspiration for social equality, encouraged largely by the character of free education in vogue which the state is levying tribute upon the white people to maintain.

"It is your function to put a stop to the worse than wasting a half million dollars annually money taken from the toiling white men and women of Mississippi and devoted to the main purpose of trying to make something of the negro which the great Architect of the universe failed to provide for in the original plan of creation."

PLUNGES TO DEATH IN MINE OPEN SHAFT.

SILVERTON, Colo., Jan. 2.—Robert Martin, a miner employed at the Gold King mines, missed his footing at the mouth of a sixty-foot ore shoot yesterday and plunged head foremost to the bottom, dying instantly. He was 38 years old and unmarried.

Dominic Orlatti, another Gold King miner, fell from a trail while celebrating in Silverton and was very seriously if not fatally injured.

COMPANIES TO STOP REBATING

NEW YORK LIFE, EQUITABLE AND MUTUAL FOR AN AGREEMENT—CLOSE LAND REFEREE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—An agreement to abolish rebating on premiums has been entered into by the New York Life, the Equitable Life and the Mutual Life Insurance companies. Announcement was made today that Grover Cleveland has been appointed referee to decide all questions in dispute that may arise in such matters, and that his salary as referee will be $12,000 per annum, to be paid jointly by the three companies. A similar appointment was held by the late Thomas B. Reed. Any agents who gives rebates will be dismissed from service and will not be re-employed by any of the companies that are parties to the agreement. It is understood that it is the desire of the companies to secure co-operation of all other life insurance companies in this agreement.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING LIVELY

EVANS AND HOWBERT FORCES CLASH—EACH SIDE ELECTS FULL TICKET.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—A climax to the factional bitterness existing in the Republican ranks of the state developed at a meeting of the Young Men's Republican club of Colorado tonight. Officers were to be elected and the function was presided over by Charles Wheeler, the president of the club, credited with being an Evans supporter, were proceeding to elect a ticket headed by Wilmer when a crowd of so-called Howbert men stormed the hall and insisted on being allowed to participate in the proceedings. A wordy war was followed by more realistic battle, and the scuffle was waxing hot when deputy sheriffs and deputies from the district attorney's office appeared on the scene and took a hand in the melee. It is said that one of the peace officers threatened to use a gun unless quiet was restored and that this had the effect of bringing about a temporary reign of peace. Each side elected a full ticket, one headed by Wilmer and the other by E. F. Brown.

CITY TO PAY MANITOU $20,000 FOR PIPE LINE RIGHT OF WAY

Aldermen of Both Cities Enter Into Agreement Which Puts An End to Expensive Litigation---New Water Main Will Double City's Present Supply.

An agreement which will avoid Colorado Springs more than twice its present water supply and water pressure was last night reached by the common councils of this city and Manitou. A stipulated contract was approved by the council of Manitou, and when this was made known to the council of Colorado Springs that body authorized Mayor Henry T. Hall and City Clerk MacMillan to sign contracts with the mayor and city clerk of Manitou. Each council will ratify these contracts by ordinance. According to the agreement, this city pays Manitou $20,000 for the perpetual right to run a twenty-four-inch water main through Boston and Manitou avenues to the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company's plant and the city's settler on Ruxton avenue. The present litigation is to be dropped, each city to pay its own costs.

This vast increase in the city's available water supply settles the question of water for the Printers' home. There will be no limit to the water supply of the home's vicinity on account of lack of pressure. Thus is removed the only possible objection to Colorado Springs as the ideal city for national homes. Under the new conditions Colorado Springs will have sufficient water for a city of 200,000 people.

Mayor E. E. Nichols of Manitou said last night: "We have been treated particularly well by the present city council and I consider the matter has been quite satisfactorily settled. I have worked with the present council and with satisfaction to all concerned for three months. Mayor Hall, Mayor Nichols and the members of the council have worked upon this proposition. When placing the matter before the Manitou council last night, Mayor Nichols said: 'I do not recommend this matter in the form which I see that I have given this council a good month of my time in the last three months. First the springs made their proposition which Mr. Dorsey and I considered fair, we made one which they rejected, and in that way the negotiations have been hanging fire for three months."

Will Sign Contract.

After the council meeting was held the Manitou council went into executive session, which resulted in favorable discussion. Slight amendments were made and the contract as amended was approved. Charles W. Dolph, the city attorney, reported the action to the Colorado Springs council and the mayor, Alderman Seldomridge, the mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign the contract for this city, their action to be ratified by the council by ordinance.

Terms of Contract.

Under the terms of the contract which it is [illegible] Manitou will not only have the perpetual right to bring a six-inch main along Manitou avenue, but it has the right to substitute a 24-inch main for the 16-inch main now in use. In the case of such substitution the city must remove the mains or present them to the city of Manitou, as they deem the interests of the contract, as amended by the two cities, might dictate. The city [illegible] Manitou's water and will have it in as good condition as it is found, but this does not mean that Colorado Springs waives its right to the Manitou to take care of its sewage. The city also agrees to [illegible] for a time for the subscription of trenches as regards street paving and to afford some sort of protection as street [illegible] [illegible] the streets are torn up through the laying of the pipe.

The piping of the water through Manitou has been in use for about a year and a half, during which time it has been the subject of much litigation. The city of Manitou is now [illegible] to where [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BIG MERGER IS AFFECTED

[illegible] OF CALIFORNIA CONSOLIDATED. TOTAL INVOLVES MILLIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—The merger of many of the light companies of the city and state was accomplished today by the payment into the Union Trust of the sum of $25,000,000. A dividend of half a million had already been paid. The financing of the deal was accomplished by N. W. Halsey & Co., bankers, and the final payment was made this afternoon.

The California Gas and Electric company is the absorbing company, and to fulfill the company will be called the Pacific Gas and Electric company. In this organization, which makes it a most powerful company, are the following companies: the San Francisco Gas and Electric company, the Bay Counties Power company, the Kern County Counties Power company, the Valley Counties Power company, the Standard Electric Company of California, Oakland Gas Light and Heat company, California Central Gas and Electric company, United Gas and Electric company, Sacramento Electric Gas and Railway company, South Yuba Water company, Central California Electric company, Berkeley Electric Lighting company, Fresno Gas and Electric company, Stockton Water company, and Vallejo Gas company.

It is understood that there will be no change in the offices of the general manager. The choice for president is said to lie between E. J. Desabia, Jr., and John Martin.

ANTI-HOBO AGITATION

FLORENCE, Colo., Jan. 2.—The hobos of Florence must go, is the slogan of the police of this city. A number have been arrested and jailed already and others have been driven out of town.

This action taken by the police is in view of the atrocities committed on Elmer Kenyon. Since work was started on the C. F. & I. canal the hobo element of Florence has been on the continual increase until today they are seen on every corner.

Hearing that repetition of the work of the firebugs in Canon City may be attempted by hobos in the employ of the canal company, the Weary Willies to remain in Florence a day longer.

TWO ARE LINCOLN GROOMS RESPONSIVE.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—Ore is being broken from two ghosts in the Abe Lincoln mine of Poverty Gulch by the Tunnel Mining company lessee. The bodies are wide and yield ore worth over $40 to the ton under selection. The leasing company would continue the craft, which is at the 700-foot point, but for the presence of water. At that depth the water level is reached in this property, which lies in the bottom of Poverty gulch.

TWENTY-FOUR LOCATION CERTIFICATES FILED.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—Twenty-four location certificates, an unusual number, were filed with the county clerk today. While it is not stated by the parties filing, it is believed that some of the certificates concern claims forfeited January 1 by non-compliance with the mineral laws.

MAY BE CHARGED IN [illegible] CONDITION

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—The report of City Clerk Turner made at a meeting of the board of aldermen tonight shows the treasury of the city to be in a healthier condition than for several years. During the past year $111,335.05 has been spent in the redemption of warrants and in the payment of interest. A few warrants remain unredeemed and $11,468.99 remains in the treasury.

PECULIAR COMBINATION RESULTS FATALLY.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 2.—Private John Murphy, of the Eleventh infantry at Fort Russell, is dead and two other soldiers may die as a result of a New Years spree, during which they drank largely of a cocktail composed of beer rum, lemon juice and hair tonic.

FIRST WIN FOR UNION VICTORY AT BOULDER

BOULDER, Colo., Jan. 2.—The printers of Boulder have won a partial victory in their demand for an eight-hour day and a closed shop. The Herald, one of the afternoon dailies, has granted an eight-hour day and the printers have conceded an "open shop." The Camera, the other afternoon daily, is ready to compromise on about the same conditions, it is understood, but nothing definite will be known until this evening, when Editor L. C. Paddock returns from Denver.

GOLDEN CYCLE SHAFT TO BE SUNK DEEPER

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 2.—Preparations are being made to add 200 feet to the main shaft of the Golden Cycle Mining company, which will increase its depth to 1,400 feet. At that [illegible] 4,000 feet six or seven large shoots that are responding generously on existing levels will be [illegible] have been shipping about 5,000 tons a month. The addition of depth to its shafts will make a larger production possible. Three hundred feet will be added to the Theresa shaft, which has a depth of [illegible]

SUICIDE DESPAIRS BY POISON BACKWASH OF DOOR [illegible]

PUEBLO, Jan. 2.—Despondency because of the condition of her health and fearing she would never again be strong and well, Mrs. Arthur Olson attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon at her apartments corner D and South Union avenue, by swallowing a large dose of landanum. The odor of the drug attracted other persons in the building, who broke into Mrs. Olson's room. A physician was quickly summoned, who, by heroic treatment, revived the dying woman.

CLOSED BY EXPLOSION OF GAS

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., Jan. 2.—An explosion of acetylene gas occurred last evening in the Mineral Palace drug and Rapine jewelry store, in the Odd Fellows' block on Main street. T. Mathews, a clerk, had gone to the rear of the store where the tank is kept to ascertain the cause for the light burning low and it is supposed he struck a match, which occasioned the explosion. The young man was severely but not dangerously burned about the face and hands, the windows of the store were blown out and damage was done to the show cases, the estimated damage being about $500, partly covered by insurance.

REFUSES TO RESIGN

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 2.—Following a brief consultation in the governor's office today between Governor Hanly, Secretary of State Storms and the latter's attorney, Mr. Storms made his first public statement since the demand made upon him by the governor for his resignation. Mr. Storms merely said that he had refused to resign.

Governor Hanley said:

"Mr. Storm has refused to resign his office. He still owes the state certain moneys."

It is said that the governor will take action at once.

WOMAN IS BADLY HURT BY BUGGY OVERTURNING

FLORENCE, Colo., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Owen McCarroll of this city had her right leg broken between the knee and ankle and was otherwise injured by being thrown from a buggy while returning home from a dance at Coal Creek at 3 o'clock this morning. She was accompanied by her daughter.

Coming down a steep grade the wheels of the buggy ran into a ditch and the vehicle was overturned. Mrs. McCarroll, falling under the wheels. She was taken back to Coal Creek and later brought to Florence.

HOLLY MARSHAL WILL RECOVER

MURDERER DIES OF HIS OWN HAND.

CALEDONIA, Minn., Jan. 2.—Matt Styre, murderer of Miss Pearl Wheaton, died at 9 o'clock tonight from gunshot wounds inflicted by himself after the attempt at triple murder. Mrs. Wheaton and Miss Ruth Wheaton, who were shot near the heart, are in a critical condition, but attending physicians hold out hopes of recovery.

JACK O'BRIEN AND GUS RUHLIN MATCHED

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Jack O'Brien and Gus Ruhlin were matched in this city tonight for a 20-round match on March 20 before the Tuxedo club at Philadelphia.

LICENSES GRANTED.

—Licenses to marry have been granted by County Clerk W. H. Reed as follows: Chas. M. Sheridan and Mrs. Marie S. Williams, both of this city; Duncan H. Graff and Miss Grace Brown, both of Denver. Geo. W. Thompson and Miss Eva Francis Mock, both of Fowler, Colo.; John W. Gideon and Miss Rosie Anderson, both of Colorado Springs; James J. Lacey and Miss Olive Franklin, both of Colorado City.

MONEY TROUBLES

Charles G. Gates, son of John W. Gates, the millionaire, objects to being loaded up with such small change as $100 bills. He was in Philadelphia for a day or two last week and when he was about to leave handed the hotel clerk a $1,000 bank note in payment of a bill somewhat less than $100. The cashier began to count out $100 bills in change, but the young man said: "My word, I can't carry that truck about with me. Send my bill to New York and I'll mail you a check." And he sauntered out to his cab, leaving the hotel man in a state of collapse.

NEW BEET SUGAR FACTORY AND ROAD ARE GUARANTEED

LA JUNTA, Colo., Jan. 2.—A new beet sugar factory of 1,000-ton daily capacity at Swink and a new line of railroad from that point to Holly, 85 miles east, are among the certainties for [illegible]

The farmers of the Holbrook district have [illegible] to raise 5,000 acres of beets, which they agree to sell to the proposed new factory in order to insure the bonding as well as the construction of the railroad. The new factory will be owned by the same people who control the plant at Holly and will be built by the Holly Construction company, of which W. N. Wiley is the manager.

The Holbrook farmers at their meeting at Holbrook center yesterday afternoon rejected the offer of the American Beet Sugar company of Rocky Ford which agreed to build a line of railroad from Holbrook to Rocky Ford if the farmers would agree to grow 2,500 acres of beets each year.

CITIZENS ORGANIZE AGAINST FIRE BUGS

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 2.—The numerous fires in this city of late and believed to have been of incendiary origin has aroused the citizens and tonight extreme measures were taken to protect the city from further depredations by what is accepted to be an organized gang of firebugs. A committee of safety was organized and patrols have been to guard the entire city. A [illegible] of citizens moved about and all suspicious characters were investigated. The committee of safety proposes to continue its work until there is no further need for their services.

CATTLE COMPANY WINS ITS CASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the supreme court of Arizona in the case of H. C. Herrick and others vs. the Hoquillas Land and Cattle company, the decision being in favor of the latter.

This case involved a controversy over the Boquillas land grant in Cochise county, Arizona, embracing 17,353 acres. The action was brought by about 30 settlers, who claim 20 years occupancy before the cattle company took possession. They ask for the restoration of the lands, $10,000 damages and $10,000 a year rental since 1901. The cattle company purchased the property from W. R. Hearst and he from the claimants under a grant made in 1833.

CHEATING WORK

An employer of thousands of men was asked what thing in all his large operations gave him the most concern. "The man who does a little less than is expected of him," is the reply. "He is the dangerous factor in all business. The absolute failure we readily discover and discharge, but the 'almost' escape detection for months and often for years, and they make our hearts as well as our purses sick," and with a very serious smile he added, "the drip in business is worse than the leak."

Thousands of men fancy they are fulfilling their duty to their employers and to their tasks by keeping hours and performing just enough to hold on to their positions. They have an idea that to do more would be to give larger service than their compensation required. They object to what they believe would be extra values. "The old man shan't get more that he's paying for," is the vernacular.

Possibly it never strikes these trimmers that in cheating their work they are doing double damage, says the Saturday Evening Post; they are injuring their employers much, they are robbing themselves more; they are, in fact, losing everything in life that is worth while. They fare worse than if they did nothing at all, for time with all its precious values slips entirely from them and leaves no substance or satisfaction. Half doing soon brings undoing. It is the nine-tenths doing or the ninety-nine one-hundredths doing that bleeds business and saps character.

WILL OF BARON ROTHSCHILD.

The will was proved in London, September 22 of Baron Nathaniel von Rothschild, of Vienna, a partner in the banking house of Messrs. S. M. von Rothschild, of Frankfort-on-the-Main, eldest son of the late Baron Anselm von Rothschild. The value of his English estate is £10,454, and the amount of his fortune abroad is not stated. That it is enormous is apparent from the fact that sums amounting to £1,125,000 are left to charity.

There are in America today more than 200 fraternal membership orders, with a combined membership of over 5,000,000 who are protected to the extent of more than $7,500,000,000 and have distributed benefits to disabled members amounting to more than $825,000,000. In 1904 alone they distributed $65,000,000, or at the rate of $1,250,000 per week, besides paying over 4,000 death claims last year. Sixty-four of these orders have a membership of over 10,000 and the others from 5,000 to 7,000.

OLDEST NATIONAL SPEAKER.

Joseph G. Cannon is the oldest man ever elected speaker of the national house of representatives. He was also longer a member of that body before becoming speaker than any other presiding officer. The youngest speaker the house ever had was R. M. T. Hunter, of Virginia, who was only 30 years old and in his second term when chosen to preside.

Provisions are made for the [illegible] of the Yerkes hospital from the remainder of the estate going to Mrs. Yerkes and from the part going to his son Charles, the latter's share going to the hospital if he dies without issue, and at any rate after the children have reached the age of 21, less the $200,000 which Charles E. Yerkes is authorized to devise by will.

In case his wife should notify the trustees that she desired to relinquish her right to use the premises at Sixty-eighth street and Fifth avenue as a home, then the trustees are directed to pay to the Yerkes galleries $20,000 per annum out of the income set aside for wife and children under the fifteenth paragraph of his will.

He appoints as trustees under his will the Central Trust company of New York. In case it refuses to act therein, the Illinois Trust and Savings bank of Illinois is made trustee. He appoints his wife, Mary Adelaide Yerkes, Louis S. Owsley and the Illinois Trust and Savings bank as directors and declares that his home is in the state of Illinois.

A SEVEN-FOOT TEST.

INCH McCRUITT

Frederick the Great's father, Frederick William, the creator of the Prussian army—whose special mania was the collection of giants from all parts of the earth—would have given something like a king's ransom for "Long Joseph," who has just joined the First foot guards at Potsdam, at the age of 20, with a weight of about 252 pounds, and a stature of seven feet ten inches—an ugly man, decidedly, to meet in a bayonet melee. Frederick William had a whole regiment of such colossi, known as the Riesengarde, among the tallest of them being one Kirkman, Scoto-Hibernian, or Ulster Irishman, whose portrait may still be seen in the palace at Charlottenburg. One of Frederick's first sovereign acts was to disband this preposterous brigade of giants, which had cost the Prussian state about as much as all the rest of its army.

THE BLOODSTAINED RUG.

It is stated on the authority of a London magazine, that the sultan, fearing the baleful influence of a historic rug sent by the sultan of Turkey as a gift to the imperial parents on the occasion of the infant's birth, has sent the young heir to the throne to a place of hiding known only to herself and the czar. The rug sent by the sultan is said to be one known as "The Bloodstained Rug of the Tenth Century," which was taken from the walls of a Moorish palace in the twelfth century, when it was pronounced bewitched. It next appeared in Rome in the fourteenth century, but was banished from an Italian palace because of its uncanny influence and was moved from place to place during the next few years, leaving death and destruction in its wake. It was lost during the sixteenth century, reappearing in the palace of the sultan at the beginning of the eighteenth, where it remained until sent to St. Petersburg, where it arrived at the beginning of the war with Japan.

RAILWAY IN THE WORLD.

One of the most interesting railway trips in the world is over the Oroya railway, which runs from Callao to the Goldfields of Cerro de Pasco. It is considered one of the wonders in the Peruvian world. It is certainly the greatest feat of railway engineering in either hemisphere. Commencing in Callao, it ascends the narrow valley of the Rimac, rising nearly 5,000 feet in the first forty six miles. Thence it goes through the intricate gorges of the Sierras till it tunnels the Andes at an altitude of 15,645 feet, the highest point in the world where a piston rod is moved by steam. This astonishing elevation is reached in seventy-eight miles.

A BOON TO [illegible]

Auchtermuchty is the happy town which every Scot proud of his unpronounceable tongue, uses as a shibboleth to test the linguistic skill of the Southron. If you can not say "Auchtermuchty" you are still an uneducated barbarian. The meaning of the word happens to be as monstrous as its sound. "The high ground of the wild sow" is not a name one would choose for a garden city. People, however, are found to flock to it as a summer resort, and as it has a lovers' pool, the town has probably attractions more real than its name. In the early part of last century Auchtermuchty went bankrupt, and was deprived of all its property except the gaol, and one or two other assets of an equally necessary character. It is now rich, peaceful and radiant

MODERN COOKING IS NOT GOOD FOR THE TEETH

It is not favorable to the preservation of these useful organs, in so far as it consists too often of artificially prepared foods that do not require mastication. The teeth require exercise. Nature intended it should be so. But by this it doesn't follow they should be used for cracking nuts, biting thread, etc. Such violence injures the enamel of the teeth. But—about every other person pays no attention to these things. That's why Dr. Shaw has such a large practice and makes possible the most elaborately equipped dental laboratory in the state, as well as the employment of expert dentists. The chances are today you are suffering because of "injured enamel" on your teeth, and that you need our dental services. Dr. Shaw, Dental Surgeon, Barnes building, 118 Pike's Peak Ave. Phone 918-B. COLORADO IS GAINING

State's 1905 Gold and Silver Output Increases Over 1904 $1,000,000

DIRECTOR OF MINT

PUBLISHES PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES FOR UNITED STATES —ALASKA FORGES FORWARD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The preliminary estimates of the director of the mint on the production of gold and silver in the United States in the calendar year 1905 shows a gain of approximately $6,000,000 in gold and 1,000,000 ounces of silver over the product of 1904. The gain in gold is almost entirely represented by the increased output of Alaska, the product of which is placed at $14,600,000, against $9,000,000 in 1904. The Alaska gain is largely in the Fairbanks district, the returns for which are $4,000,000.

California shows a loss of about $2,000,000, due, it is said, to the shutting down which not only brought fluctuations in operations to a standstill, but interfered with quartz mills to some extent. Nevada shows a gain of about $500,000, and Utah as much. Colorado gains about $1,500,000. The Klondike continues to fall off and is about $2,000,000 below 1904. Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Arizona are estimated at about the same as in the previous year.

The figures of the principal states follow:

	Gold Value	Silver Fine Ounces
Alaska	$14,600,000	3,000,000
Arizona	3,500,000	4,000,000
California	17,500,000	2,500,000
Colorado	20,000,000	12,000,000
Michigan	1,000	200,000
Montana	3,000,000	12,000,000
Nevada	1,000,000	6,000,000
New Mexico	400,000	1,000,000
Oregon	1,000,000	1,000,000
South Carolina	10,000	1,000
South Dakota	6,000,000	1,000,000
Texas	2,000	100,000
Utah	1,000,000	12,000,000
Washington	30,000	100,000
Wyoming	30,000	2,000
Totals	$76,000,000	58,000,000
Klondyke	8,000,000	2,000,000

SAYS BUSINESS WAS DAMAGED

COURT NEWS

Trial of the divorce case of Curtis Rowlands vs. David W. Rowlands was begun in the district court yesterday before Judge R. E. Lewis and a jury of six. The action is based upon a cruelty charge preferred by the wife, and she was the only witness called to the stand for the plaintiff. Five witnesses for the defense had been examined up to the hour of adjournment. When this case was tried at the last term of court the jury returned verdicts against both the plaintiff and the defendant, and declined to grant the relief prayed for. A new trial was granted by the court and is now in progress.

In the county court yesterday the case of Flora Shotton vs. Tom Green was filed on appeal from the court of Justice Ruby.

Nancy M. Lake filed an action for $5,000 damages against Chas. Bemis Paint Corporation.

In the probate division the report of the sale of real estate by the administrator of the estate of F. C. Troutman was approved, and inventories were approved in the estates of Nancy Cowgill and J. H. Brown.

CITY HALL NOTES

Street Commissioner A. W. Gray has laid off five men and six teams for the winter and will handle the street work during the season with the 26 head of horses owned by the department. This will make a saving of $900 per month during the winter.

At the request of Mayor H. C. Hall, the city building inspector yesterday made a thorough examination of the Trimble theater. Inspector Young reported that the building was in a perfectly safe condition and there is no danger of the galleries or walls collapsing.

Mayor Hall and City Treasurer W. H. Hoagland yesterday opened the bids submitted for furnishing the supplies to the city for the ensuing three months. The bids will be tabulated and submitted to the council at a later date.

Tom Furey, who was arrested in Denver and brought to this city upon suspicion of being implicated in the perpetration of a bunco game, has been released, there being no case against him.

MILLIKEN CASE IS SUDDENLY DISMISSED

DENVER, Jan. 2.—After hanging fire in the federal courts for more than three years, the suit of William B. Milliken, the Denver mining engineer, against John T. Milliken, of St. Louis, for half of the latter's stock in the Golden Circle Mining company was suddenly dismissed today at the request of the plaintiff's attorneys, Charles S. Thomas and James T. Banks. During the past several days evidence had been taken before United States Commissioner A. B. Capron, preparatory to a trial.

JUDGE G. G. MINOR CALLED BY DEATH

PROMINENT PIONEER AND JURIST OF CANON CITY SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA.

CANON CITY, Jan. 3.—Judge G. G. Minor died at his home on North Main street this morning at 7:30 o'clock after a short illness with pneumonia. Judge Minor was one of the most prominent pioneers of Fremont county, having come to Canon City from Nebraska in 1870. He was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the constitution of Colorado, and was elected judge of the district court of this district in 1876, serving for four years. He was also a member of the state senate in 1880. Judge Minor was a native of Ohio, and was born in 1837. He is survived by his wife and two children, Mrs. Frank Hall of Canon City and Mrs. Ralph Hall of Denver.

COLORADO CITY

EXPLODING FURNACE CAUSED DESTRUCTION OF A HOME BY FIRE

The explosion of a hot air furnace at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon almost completely destroyed by fire the residence occupied by Mathew Stiffler, 210 North fourth street.

The family was away on a visit to Leadville, leaving the house in care of Mrs. Stiffler's sister, who, having no experience with a furnace, allowed it to be filled improperly with stack coal.

The explosion scattered the fire throughout the basement and the flames rapidly spread until the whole interior was ablaze by the time the fire department arrived. The chemical engine was brought into play upon the flames in the basement, while streams of hose were used on the interior. The fire boys worked faithfully in the bitter cold and succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

The damage is estimated at $500. Much of Mr. Stiffler's furniture was saved. The property is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Hayes, of Leadville, and was insured for $1,500.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES.

ELOPEMENT CAUSES A GREAT SENSATION

ROME, Jan. 2.—A great sensation has been caused by the elopement of a daughter of Count Lutti of Treviso, 19 years old, with Count Giovanni Correr, who is 62 years old. Both belong to the most ancient of the nobility. Count Lutti reported the elopement to the police.

THE SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION IN MONTANA CASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The supreme court of the United States, through Justice Peckham today affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court of the district of Montana in refusing to take jurisdiction in the case of the Montana Catholic Missions of Missoula, Mont. The Catholic Missions is a corporation which holds the property of the Jesuit fathers in Montana, including a large number of cattle held on the Flathead Indian reservation in Missoula county, and this proceeding arose out of an effort on the part of the county authorities to take the cattle. The mission's associations contended that authority to run the cattle on the reservation had been given by the Indians and by the federal government, and that the object in shooting them there was purely charitable. The Montana circuit court dismissed the bill for want of jurisdiction.

A QUESTION OF HOME INFLUENCE.

COMMENTING on the case of Leslie Francisco, the accomplice in the murder of Frank L. Scott, Judge Ben B. Lindsey said in an article in yesterday's Gazette: "Leslie Francisco is a victim of no home, no parents, no love in childhood. I know without a question of a doubt that he would have been a splendid citizen had he received the benefits of grandparents and home training, neither of which he ever had. Then was the time to have prevented such crimes. Over half the murderers in the last decade have been these young fellows."

There is the whole story of the case and a sermon as well in very few words. Francisco is barely eighteen years old, too young, by far, for any youth to be a hardened criminal unless there has been something radically wrong with his early training. The boy who has been brought up in a good home, surrounded with the right kind of parental influences, does not become a thief and the accomplice of murderers at the age of eighteen. Francisco is the logical product of the wrong kind of early influences. Both he and his partner in crime, Frick, had been wayward as were children, and it was the most natural thing in the world that as young men they should develop into criminals.

There is no more truly pitiable object than a boy without a home cast on the world to shift for himself, and subject only to the influences of the street which are invariably bad. Pitiable, yes, but so common that the spectacle hardly excites comment. But even the homeless boy is in no greater danger than the one whose home surroundings are bad. The influence of parents who teach their children to ignore the fine distinctions between right and wrong is an appalling thing, but the most dangerous because it is the commonest, is the influence exerted by the fathers and mothers who, apparently caring little for the welfare of their children, leave them to their own devices. This is really not so much a bad home influence as it is a lack of any home influence whatever.

"Evil communications corrupt good manners," is as true today as it was in the time of Saint Paul. A child is almost entirely the creature of environment. Permit him to run the streets at all hours and select his own companions, do nothing to counteract the bad influences to which he will thus be exposed, and he is quite certain to form a bad character. If the work of character building is not done in the home, it certainly will be by such influences as are exerted over him elsewhere. Under normal conditions the making of a good citizen begins in the home. It is there that, as a child, he forms his ideas and dreams his dreams. The atmosphere of the home will color his thoughts and his ambitions, and the foundation upon which his character is built will determine his usefulness. The evident increase in the sense of parental responsibility is the reason for the increase in our reform schools. The companionship between parent and child is not what it should be, and therefore childish problems are not always understood. This is a tendency which must be checked, for where there is a lack of understanding of children there will be found little respect and no sympathy.

"Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined," is an old saying, and its truth has been proved in the recent tragedy. If parents would think more seriously of those words and realize their vital meaning, the need of penal institutions would be greatly lessened, and parental sympathy and guidance would solve the problem of our crowded prisons and reform schools.

WADSWORTH WINS.

THE VICTORY of James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who last night received the Republican nomination for speaker of the New York assembly, is clearly a triumph for clean politics. This fight has aroused national interest because President Roosevelt regarded it as sufficiently important to justify his interference, and as all of the forces of decency seem to be on the side of Wadsworth, while men who have long stood for corruption in politics were opposed to him, his victory will be received everywhere with perfect satisfaction. Wadsworth received seventy-five votes as against fourteen for Merritt, former Governor Odell's candidate, and fifteen for Wainwright. Thus he had more than twice as many as both his opponents combined.

It became clear more than a week ago that Wadsworth would probably be the winner unless corrupt methods were used to bring about his defeat. One of the Wadsworth men on Monday charged that this was the purpose of the attempt to make the ballot secret, on which attempt the Odell forces two days ago centered their efforts. Even if this is not the case, Odell probably believed that if a secret ballot were held he could secure a good many of the legislators who had been previously pledged to Wadsworth and who would not dare violate their promises openly.

Odell did not gain any sympathy for his cry when he charged President Roosevelt with a desire to wreck the Republican party in New York by his interference in behalf of Wadsworth. A fact which makes this declaration rather inconsistent is that some time ago, before it was known that Wadsworth would be a candidate, Odell publicly admitted the right of Governor Higgins to name the candidate for the speakership, as the Governor was responsible to the state organization. Odell supported that Higgins would name Merritt, but when, instead the choice Wadsworth and his choice was indorsed by the President and by practically all of the anti-gang Republicans of the state Odell, flew into a rage and tried all methods by accusing others of the high crime of resorting to the very methods which he himself was employing but which he emphatically ignored.

Odell is a politician of the school which happily is becoming more and more discredited every year—the school of Platt, Quay and others of their stripe. Such men represent the dollar mark in politics; they stand for graft and spoils, and in selecting candidates for responsible positions they are careful to pick out those who will do their bidding, in other words, they want mere tools who will do the dirty work of statecraft and ask no questions. This is why it is always safe for honest people to oppose any candidate who may be put forward by corrupt bosses like Odell. Merritt may be a good and able man, but if so he is extremely unfortunate in the choice of his political backer. A man who consorts with thieves cannot complain if he is himself regarded as a thief.

PIPE LINE CONTENTION ENDED.

THE SETTLEMENT of the pipe line controversy with Manitou, which has been hanging fire for about two years, will be distinctly gratifying to the people of this city, because it will make possible the increase in the water supply which has so long been needed, and will also remove the only source of irritation between the two communities. By the terms of the agreement made last night between the councils of Colorado Springs and Manitou, this city is to have the right to lay a new twenty-four-inch water main through Manitou, in addition to the ten-inch and sixteen-inch mains already in use. It is further provided that Colorado Springs has the right at any time to substitute a twenty-four-inch pipe for either of the smaller ones now in use. This means that our water departments will be able, if necessity requires, to operate two twenty-four-inch mains and one sixteen-inch main through Manitou, sufficient to carry all of the water that can be brought down Engleman's Canon.

The compensation named in the contract, $20,000, is the same as was almost agreed upon more than a year ago, when the negotiations were dropped until the new council came in. This amount is undoubtedly far in excess of any actual damages which could result to Manitou from the temporary tearing up of Ruxton avenue, but this seems to be the only basis on which an agreement could be reached, and as the matter is of the greatest importance to Colorado Springs, nothing was to be gained by haggling over the price.

Colorado Springs imperatively needs more water; it already possesses the supply, but the water could not be brought to this city except through Manitou. Costly iron pipe for the Manitou line was bought a long time ago, and has been stacked up near Adams Crossing awaiting the settlement of this unfortunate controversy. A suit brought by this city to condemn a right of way through Manitou is now pending in the supreme court, and the longer the settlement was delayed the greater would be the cost to both parties and the more serious the inconvenience to this city. Considering all of these circumstances, it is plain that our Council has acted wisely in adjusting the matter on the terms offered. It is worthy of note, too, that Colorado Springs does not waive its right to take action to compel Manitou to dispose of its sewage in some way other than dumping it into Fountain creek.

Now it appears that Mr. Hearst spent $40,000 in the effort to be elected Mayor of New York. Add this to the million and a half he is supposed to have spent chasing the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1904, and it is quite clear that somebody has been doing to Willie that which is vulgarly known as pulling the leg.

It is announced that District Attorney Jerome is ready to begin "serious work" of preparing to prosecute life insurance officials. Which, being interpreted, means that if there are any life insurance officials who have neglected to provide themselves with cyclone cellars, now is the time to get busy.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Friday 30 August, P.M. — My party matured early, but I returned with Mr. Grant to his establishment on the Red Cedar lake, attended by the corporal, which we came in sight of Mr. Grant's house, I observed the flag of Great Britain flying, and felt indignant, and cannot say what my feelings would have excited me to, had he not informed me that it belonged to the Indians. This was not much more agreeable to me. After explaining to a Chippeway Warrior, called Curly Head, the object of my journey, and receiving his answer, that he would remain with me until my return, as was a good hunting ground for the country, departed and overtook my sledges just at dusk; killed one porcupine, distance advanced, sixteen miles.

From Pine river to Red Cedar lake, the pine ridges are interrupted by large bottoms of elm, ash, oak, and maple. The soil would be very proper for cultivation. From the appearance of the ice, which was firm and equal, I conceive there can be but one rapid in this distance. Red Cedar lake lies on the eastern side of the Mississippi, at the distance of six miles from it, and is nearly equally distant from the River de Corbeau and Lake de Sable. Its form is an oblong, and may be ten miles in circumference.

Press Opinions

ON RUSSIA'S PLIGHT.

From the beginning of Russia's internal troubles on to the time when the czar announced his reforms and appointed Witte to put them into effect there was a prevalent feeling that the situation would grow worse before it would grow better. The hope that attended the proclamation of one concession after another was not long lived. The people seemingly unable to make the most of these concessions by accepting them at their worth and biding their time to win others by them use of those already granted. Now things have gone back to something like the old regime, and it is feared again that the tragedy in Russia is only beginning. No revolutionary movement was ever more chaotic. Even the elements pledged to monarchial rule, or to the present dynasty in particular, are not in accord, and the empire is rent with cross purposes.—Kansas City Times.

Colorado Comment

AWAIT WITH INTEREST.

Colorado college has been given 15,000 acres of forest, range and farm land through the generosity of two of the state's leading citizens, General W. J. Palmer and Dr. W. A. Bell. The land in question has considerable improvements and these will be handed over to the college for such use as it may see fit to make of them, the entire tract of land being devoted to a school of forestry where experiments will be carried on to promote the preservation of forests and the rapid growth of native timber. Only four such schools are now being conducted in the United States, but the government is making preparations to promote knowledge of the culture when it sets aside the reservations in different sections of the arid west. Colorado people will be interested in watching the results of experiments at home in replacing the vast forests which have been swept away without thought of the consequences to future generations.—Walsenburg World.

DOOM OF RUSSIA.

The world has for years been railing at the autocratic government of Russia, and that nation has been a hissing and a by word among the more civilized countries. However, if the present condition of affairs may be taken as a sample of what the people there would do if they had everything in their own hands the policy hitherto pursued was none too severe. Wild beasts are no more cruel nor maniacs no more unreasonable. It now looks as if Russia was doomed to a repetition of the scenes of the French revolution.—Silverton Miner.

DIFFERENCE IN GRADUATES.

The college graduate is the class from which many of our leading men are drawn, but it is the persistent, painstaking and careful graduate who will receive recognition, rather than the man who is satisfied to barely pass the examinations. The former is valuable in any business or profession he may choose to enter, but in order to get to the top every successful man must assimilate all his power and all his efforts on the matter in hand. Those who fail to do so will find their level in ranks already crowded with practical failures.—Ft. Collins Express.

Crisis of Austria

The Hapsburg Empire Said to Be Trembling Deep Misery of People—Disastrous Results of Schemes to Weaken Imperial Crown.

VIENNA, the capital of Austria-Hungary is generally supposed to be more the outcome of racial hypersensitiveness than of causes that could be easily determined and remedied by equitable political judgement. The remedy is thought to lie principally in fair government treatment and not to be forthcoming to certain adjustment of the interrelations of other European states.

These views are very far from covering the truth in its essential particulars. The present disquietude and strife throughout the empire are due chiefly to deplorable economic conditions which have developed during the last thirty years and are now fast reaching a crisis of exceeding gravity.

What Hungary seeks today is less a question of the language of army command, which, indeed, is a mere symbol of profounder matters, than the right to conclude her own commercial treaties. The interests in that regard of Austria and Hungary are antagonistic.

Hitherto Hungary, in spite of the government's efforts to create other industries, remains essentially an agricultural country. Austria, on the other hand, has during the last thirty years systematically forced the development of industries to the detriment and even to the ruin of her agriculture, which was formerly her chief source of riches.

Economic Conditions Blamed.

The Vienna central government, in fostering industrial enterprises in the Austrian part of the empire, has continually ignored and sacrificed the agricultural interests of the Hungarian territories. The oppressive economic conditions in Austria are equally responsible for the ferment in all parts of the empire toward disintegration.

The German Austrians compare their own unhappy state with that of their brothers across the borders, and the drain grows ever stronger to merge themselves with Germany. The Czechs and other Slavonic races would seek either to form themselves into independent governments or to create new Slavonic federations. These races all look forward to a political change which would give them control of the civil machines and provide them with means of escape from the economic catastrophe impending in Austria.

During the last twenty years the situation has steadily become more aggravated. The middle, working and peasant classes as well as the local officials have alike. Hard in vain for some measures of relief that could afford relief. The government has been powerless to cope with the prevalent ills.

In Austria ministers change in rapid succession, and their first duty is to maintain and safeguard the personal political aims of the dynasty. They are left therefore with neither the strength nor the will requisite for the effectual consideration of economic and social questions.

From 1848, when the rebellion of the Deutsche Bund (Germanic confederation) assembled at Frankfort and tried to reconstitute the German empire, offering the crown, not to a Hapsburg, but to the King of Prussia, a Hohenzollern, the contest for that imperial throne became inevitable between Hapsburg and Hohenzollern. The first encounter, in 1853, was palliated by the Olmutz convention, at which Austria consented to remain for the time being outside of the German Zollverein (customs union).

From the time when the great clash came in 1866, bringing the exclusion of Austria from the German confederation and leaving the supremacy with Russia, the policy of Emperor Francis Joseph has been steadily framed with the ambition of regaining for the Hapsburgs that supremacy and the German imperial crown. It was in furtherance of such plans that he called into his service the Saxon statesman, Beust, who had served Saxony for nearly twenty years as foreign minister.

The first sequel to that policy was the consolidation of the main mass of German peoples into an empire under a Hohenzollern.

It is worth remembering that between 1866 and 1870 negotiations took place between Austria and France for an alliance whose object was to crush Prussia. Austria was to have effected as part of her obligations under the alliance secret arrangements with the southern German states. If Bismarck had not forestalling the signature of that treaty by the famous Ems dispatch, precipitating the crisis and thereby declaration of war—a movement accompanied by a secret agreement with Russia—that war was to have been turned upon Prussia by Austria and France within a few months.

Austrian Social Divisions.

The arrangement between Austria and Hungary, the famous "Ausgleich" of 1867, which gave to the Germans in the Austrian part of the empire, a relative majority, and to the Magyars in Hungary, a relative majority, was Beust's invention created in the interest of the Hapsburg scheme to substitute Vienna for Berlin. Bismarck later on, in connection that scheme, forced Austria into the alliance with Germany, already coupled with Italy, and while supporting the Austro-Hungarian "Ausgleich" encouraged the Austrian Pan-Germanic movement whose tendencies were always toward Hohenzollern.

There are three main divisions in Austria socially considered. At the summits are a small minority, who form a feudal plutocracy owning most of the land and the greater part of the industries of the country. In reality no distinction to this rich and powerful aristocratic class are the masses of the people, afflicted by an alarming increase of pauperism. Between these Kossuth made a brave stand, and asked redress of the emperor in 1848. Ferdinand agreed, then broke faith, the bloodthirsty Wallachians were let loose on the unhappy Huns and the latter were forced to resort to arms in order to save themselves from extermination, as related in the name Francis Joseph. Having the reputation of being a brave and accomplished soldier and of his courage no doubt exists, but it is asked, a humiliating sort, that he never won a battle.

In addition to succeeding the Hungarians defeating the Austrians at Mori, Branizzola and Isola. Then, with his forces sadly decimated and final defeat staring him in the face, Francis Joseph, a direct descendant of the great Hapsburg warriors, was forced to appeal to Russia for aid, and it was the arms of the white czar, and not those of the emperor of Austria, that finally put down the revolution.

This was the first great disappointment of Francis Joseph's life, for it was part of his hope to make a military reputation that should put him in the class with his ancestor, Francis I., who helped defeat Napoleon.

This should have taught its lesson, but the unhappy king had not yet learned. Once firmly seated on the throne again, he inaugurated a policy of the most merciless reprisals, rode roughshod over his people, and tried to Germanize a territory four-fifths of whose population had come to loathe the very name of German.

He suppressed all popular liberties, he placed all education, public and private, in the hands of the church, and raised against himself a storm of revolt that did not subside for twenty years.

This sympathy for his many misfortunes fell for the bereaved king by his subjects was great enough to stay for a time the rise of the wave of Hungarian revolt, but a crisis has been reached now that can not be passed until the entire question has been settled for all time.

Will the aged and heartbroken monarch be equal to the strain or will he collapse under it?

Only the future can answer, but if his success is no better than in the past, the future is dark for poor old Francis Joseph. His indeed is the weary head that wears the crown.—Kansas City Journal.

Overcrowding in Factory Towns.

The workingmen in many of the factories are forced to lodge from two to three families in the same room. That room, through the solicitude of the factory-directory, is marked off with chalk lines on the floor to indicate the boundaries of each family's possession therein.

It is true that factory laws exist forbidding such overcrowding, but the factory usually belongs to a piece of the realm or to some other aristocratic personage or corporation, and the factory inspector, especially if he has a family to support, usually remembers the exceedingly disagreeable experiences of certain other factory inspectors who dared to bring these violations of law to official notice, and he remains prudent in his report.

The reports and publications of the central statistical commission show that at the end of 1891 the amount of mortgage debts in Austria was a round 4,100,000,000 florins, or about $1,600,000,000. During the twelve years from 1883 to 1894 this amount increased by 1,942,000,000 florins. From 1885 to 1888 the amount of mortgage debts increased at the rate of 270,000,000 florins annually, and in 1894 the rate of augmentation rose to 382,000,000 florins a year.

The most remarkable feature of this ever-increasing mortgage debt is that the category of small debts for amounts of less than 500 florins, or $200, represents not less than 75 per cent of the total amount. The small debts are contracted for the payment of taxes by the small peasant landholders, who sooner or later are obliged to part with the land itself.

400,000 a Year Emigrate.

That circumstance accounts for the fact that over year about 400,000 persons emigrate to other countries and 35 per cent of the rest of the population are obliged to look for a living elsewhere than in their native districts.

It is significant that pauperism, prostitution and suicide have increased at an appalling rate during the last thirty years. In Carinthia, to cite an example, the number of illegitimate births averages sixty-two out of every 100 registered.

The criminal statistics reveal overwhelming evidence of the growing misery among the people of Austria. Those statistics are all the more conclusive in that the penal laws have remained unchanged since the beginning of the nineteenth century.

From 1874 to 1889 the number of criminal sentences increased by 86.7 per cent, while the increase of the population was only 13 per cent. From 1881 to 1889 48 per cent of 6000 convictions were for theft and fraud. 90.5 per cent of the persons so convicted were paupers, while 9.1 per cent had a small income or earnings; only fourtenths of 1 per cent possessed ample means.

Thirty years ago the country was essentially agricultural, and a good harvest meant general content. The soil belonged chiefly to small peasant landowners. There were in all Austria only 4,931 big landed estates.

Francis Joseph's Troubled Reign.

As though his cup of sorrow were not already filled to overflowing by the political troubles and public afflictions that have beset his 57-year reign, Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria and king of Hungary, finds himself confronted by the menace of revolution, which he only avoided temporarily a few days ago by dissolving the Hungarian parliament until December 17.

The unhappiest of monarchs whose entire occupancy of the throne has been an unbroken succession of the most cracking struggles, is not even to be vouchsafed the blessings of peace for his dying days. At 75 years of age, bent and broken, heartsore and weary, the patient monarch sees Hungary almost on the point of resorting to arms to break the union that has now become hateful, much in the same way that Norway, wearied of the union with Sweden, has lately demanded and attained its freedom.

It is Francis Joseph who must deal with the problem. He can entrust it to no other. There is no diplomat in his realm who can cope with the aroused Hungarians. Francis Joseph they love, even though they would be free of him, and in the present crisis it is his power alone that can stay the tide of revolution, it stayed it before.

Francis Joseph came into public life ascended his throne when a Hungarian revolt demanded his presence as successor to the incompetent and hated Ferdinand V. This was in 1848. There is more than a possibility that the cares of another Hungarian uprising may see him pass from that throne, whose occupant he has so long been.

Either death or revolution may save him his release. It is not the fault of the Hapsburg or Francis Joseph will, both to the bitter end, but sorely must be the irony of struggling to maintain a scepter that has brought him nothing but misery.

Mother Started Internal Strife.

The contest between Austria and Hungary has reached an acute stage. It has several times been necessary for the king to prorogue the Hungarian diet to prevent its members from impeaching the Hapsburg cabinet, and declaring the union between the two countries dissolved.

The mother of the present emperor, Archduchess Sophia, laid the foundation for the present internal strife when in the early '40s she began to be violated and disregarded almost every one of the rights secured to the Hungarians by the constitution which binds the two nations. Filled, of their history, their loyalty and the various traditions of their ancestors, the people of Hungary, led by the valiant Louis Kossuth, made a brave stand, and asked redress of the emperor in 1848. Ferdinand agreed, then broke faith, the bloodthirsty Wallachians were let loose on the unhappy Huns and the latter were forced to resort to arms in order to save themselves from extermination, as related in the name Francis Joseph. Having the reputation of being a brave and accomplished soldier and of his courage no doubt exists, but it is asked, a humiliating sort, that he never won a battle.

In addition to succeeding the Hungarians defeating the Austrians at Mori, Branizzola and Isola. Then, with his forces sadly decimated and final defeat staring him in the face, Francis Joseph, a direct descendant of the great Hapsburg warriors, was forced to appeal to Russia for aid, and it was the arms of the white czar, and not those of the emperor of Austria, that finally put down the revolution.

SHE MADE $100 A DAY.

Senator Platt in a humorous speech was praising woman at a dinner party.

"And her business ability!" he exclaimed. "Only the other day the young wife of a young friend of mine called excitedly to her husband on his return home.

"'John, I have made more money than you today.'

"'How much have you made?' he asked.

"'A hundred dollars,' she said proudly.

"'Good, gad,' cried the young man. 'And how did you make it?'

"'Well, said the young lady, 'you know my old piano that you only paid $200 for, I sold it today for $400.'

"'Gracious, and what are you going to do with the money?' he asked.

"'Oh, there isn't any money,' she said.

"'Eh?'

"'You see I sold the piano to a dealer,' she explained. 'He gives me a new one for $500 and allows $400 for the old one. Haven't I done well? If you'd stay at home and let me run your business for you, you'd grow rich. Think, $100 a day! That is over $30,00 a year.'

MURDER CHARGE

Direct Informations Filed Against Youths Who Killed Frank L. Scott.

Assistant District Attorney John W. Wheator appeared in the district court at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon before Judge R. E. Lewis and filed a direct information against Leslie Francisco and Charles Essick, charging that on December 29, 1905, the defendants "did then and there feloniously, willfully and of their malice aforethought, kill and murder one Frank L. Scott." Attached to the information is an affidavit signed and sworn to by Alexander Adams. Judge R. E. Lewis ordered that a capias be issued and the defendants held without bail.

Francisco and Essick were photographed yesterday morning at the county jail. Neither of the young men manifested any worry or uneasiness about the charge against them and they appear to be little effected by their incarceration.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—The shooting in which young Leslie Francisco figured in Colorado Springs was not the first of the kind, according to reports of those who knew him when he lived in Denver. Several years ago he shot a young boy named William Jones on a Fourth of July celebration. The boy was badly injured in the knee, the bullet from a 22-caliber revolver shattering the kneecap.

Francisco's record in Denver was bad. He was employed at the Victoria hotel, Fifteenth and Cleveland place, and discharged for stealing some trivial article. While in the mountains at Langolen, Colo., he stole a few sticks of dynamite and blew up an empty cabin belonging to Otto Shatz of Denver.

He is an Italian by birth and generally believed to weak-minded. For certain periods he acts rationally and with good sense, proving himself by nature a lad of good disposition. His excitable temperament, however, has more than once led him into mischievous pranks that came near resulting seriously. In common with the boy Antone Woode, who spent years in the penitentiary for murder, he possesses considerable talent for art.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place, writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Texas, "she was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bedside forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request, Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." Bad temper rusts them.

There's no getting away from these two living facts, therefore it behooves us to do what we can to further the cause of good temper.

A satisfied stomach will do more than all else to oil the wheels of life. The smile of contentment that overspreads the countenance of the man at the breakfast table proves it. He's in good temper, and it's all because his stomach has been kindly treated by a cup of good coffee.

CITY COUNCIL TO PAY BILLS

ACTION OF DECEMBER 30 TO PAY McALISTER AND GANDY $1,050 RATIFIED.

EXPENSE OF DEFENDING SELF-DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST CHIEF OF POLICE IS ORDERED PAID.

The city council last evening voted to confirm the action taken on December 30 ordering the payment of the McAllister & Gandy bill for $1,050 and also directed the payment of the expenses incurred by Police Chief Adams in defending the case of Self vs. Adams. The proposed ordinance, fixing a new license for bucksters, was referred to the ordinance committee, and the ordinance directing the location and regulating the use and construction of armories in the city passed its third reading.

Auditor Perry presented a communication recommending that certain transfers be made in various funds, and the recommendation was adopted.

The motion made by Alderman Tucker that the council ratify the action taken on December 30 providing for the payment of the McAllister & Gandy bill of $1,050 for legal services and that the same be paid out of the legal expense fund caused considerable discussion and was finally passed by a vote of 5 years 3 nays, the latter being Messrs. Hill, Holden and Allin.

That Self Case.

Another discussion was caused by a motion made by Alderman Tucker that warrants be drawn in payment of services and expenses incurred in the defense of the case of Self vs. Adams as follows: H. L. Hubbard $100 Sheriff O. P. Grimes, serving processes, $6.80; P. C. Wright, stenographer, $9.40. It was argued that although the suit was brought against Chief Adams as a private person and not as a city official yet the city should pay the cost of the defense. Messrs. McCaffery, Tucker, Seldomridge, Verner and the mayor spoke in support of the motion, and Messrs. Allin and Holden in opposition. The motion was carried and the bills ordered paid by a vote of 5 yeas to 3 nays, Aldermen Hill, Allin and Holden voting in the negative.

The council then voted to cancel the unexpended balances remaining from the appropriation ordinance of 1905-6.

Bid Rejected.

Only one bid was presented for cutting a new channel for Fountain creek above the Hoag Creek road. The bid was by J. S. Hobbs, 1124 Lincoln avenue, who offered to remove the dirt for 98 cents per yard and stone at $1.85 per yard. The bid was rejected, and it is probable the city will have the work done under the direction of the street commissioner.

Alderman Allin, from the fire committee, recommended that a committee of three be appointed by the president of the council to investigate and recommend what make of aerial truck the city should purchase. The motion was carried and Messrs. Allin, McCaffery and Hill were appointed.

The warrant drawn in favor of W. H. Colburn for $200 was ordered canceled on motion of Alderman Verner.

Alderman Verner, from the ordinance committee, asked the council for further instructions in the matter of revising and compiling the city ordinances. A motion that it be the sense of the council that the city ordinances be revised was carried by unanimous vote. On motion of Alderman Seldomridge, a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Verner, Tucker and Hoeman, was appointed to devise ways and means for revising the ordinances. It is understood that this committee will report at the next regular meeting of the council.

A NEW LODGE OF PYTHIANS

ORGANIZED LAST NIGHT WITH 208 CHARTER MEMBERS OFFICERS ARE ELECTED—INDOOR FAIR.

Pythianism in Colorado was given a great impetus last night when a new lodge, Solomon No. 125, was organized in Colorado Springs by Alex Rothschild and J. F. Mullaney. The new lodge already has 208 members and indications are that this number will be increased rapidly until it is the largest Pythian lodge in the state. It already is one of the largest. Officers were elected as follows:

Captain L. L. Bennett, chief; deputy grand chancellor C. Allin W. Kissinger; A. A. Swanger, J. F. Mullaney, past chancellor, commanders; Edgar Payton, chancellor commander; C. M. Argue, vice chancellor; C. Craig Ingalls, master of work; Joe Wallace, prelate; Rex O. Shipmaster, keeper of records and seals; Lieut. A. M. Shinck, master of finance; Alex Rothschild, treasurer, pro tem; Sam Schlesinger, treasurer; A. McMillan, master-at-arms; J. L. Bartlett, inner guard; J. F. Mullaney, outer guard; Fred Klopfer, W. S. Muir and E. L. Bell, trustees for three two and one years respectively.

An executive meeting of the company will be held at the Antlers hotel on the evening of January 10, to decide upon a date for the big indoor fair and carnival which is to be given under auspices of the company.

AN ASSOCIATION OF EVANGELISTS

THE REV. J. WILBER CHAPMAN AT HEAD OF NEW INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION—WELL KNOWN HERE.

This is the International Association of Evangelists, organized and headed by Dr. J. Wilber Chapman, who conducted the great revival here last winter.

The association is organized on trust lines, the stated objects being "to magnify the office of the evangelist, to elevate the standard of evangelistic work, for mutual co-operation, protection and fellowship among evangelists, and to promote evangelism throughout the country."

To become a member of this association an applicant must be a member in good standing in some evangelical denomination, must be engaged exclusively in evangelistic work and his application must be indorsed by the pastor of the church of which he is a member, or by the secretary or clerk of his presbytery, conference or association, and by three members of this association.

It is proposed to gather into this organization the leading evangelists of the country.

The headquarters will be in Winona, Ind., and most of the meetings and conferences of the association will be held there.

The organization starts with an excellent outlook, having at least 100 members already.

AFTER DIGESTION—WHAT?

It's not enough to digest your food, and reduce it to pulp or liquid inside you, but it must also be properly absorbed, carried to the proper organs, filtered, purified, and carried by your blood to the various parts of your body which are worn out and stand in need of repair.

This is a system of complicated machinery, engineering, chemistry and physics, before which all of man's most wonderful achievements since the world began, fade into insignificance.

And, when you come to think of it, next to the marvel of any complicated piece of mechanism itself, is the man who, when it has broken down, can repair it and make it go again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets,

Really, the most marvelous achievement in the vast field of man's many-sided endeavors.

A perfect medicine, which never fails to cure, or set in running order again, the complicated mechanism of man's internal digestive arrangements.

The secret of the great success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, is simply this, that they have been prepared upon the first foundation of the most thorough research into the real origin and cause of all disease due to the improper digestion and absorption of food.

Knowing the cause, further research led to the knowledge of how to relieve and cure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only medicine founded upon certain scientific rules of treatment, which make success a certainty.

They penetrate into all the channels of your being into the minutest arteries, the tiniest lymphatics, the faintest tracery of nerve tissue; and renew, build up, refresh, and restore to health, every disorder which improper food, poor digestion, or incomplete absorption has caused, in any portion of your anatomy.

No need to consult a physician.

At the least sign of distress after eating, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

On the least pain or discomfort, in stomach, liver, back, or bowels, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

For any craving for improper food, continual hunger, continual thirst, or loss of appetite in greater or lesser form, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

By following these simple rules, you will save yourself much pain, suffering and discomfort, and will add greatly to your span of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you live long and happily.

Try them.

STRATTON ESTATE INHERITANCE TAX

JAN. 22 DATE FIXED FOR HEARING OF STATE'S APPLICATION IN COUNTY COURT.

By agreement of court and counsel the entire day of January 22 was set aside in the county court for the hearing of the application of the State of Colorado to have the Stratton inheritance tax fixed by the court. On that day Attorney General Miller, Assistant Attorney General Ramsey and Senator Arthur Cornforth will be present on behalf of the state. Dines & Whitted of Denver, and McAllister & Gandy will oppose the application on behalf of the Stratton executors.

The petition filed four months ago claims that approximately $365,000 is due the state. The Stratton estate was appraised at $6,300,000, and the per cent of the assessments was in a graduated scale, ranging from 1 to 6 per cent.

According to Denver dispatches, arguments also will be made in the supreme court on January 22 on the motion before that body on the filing of the appraiser's report. Motions made so far have prevented the filing of this report, and on January 22 attorneys representing the Stratton estate and all its interests will appear to oppose the motion.

The case so far has been fought most vigorously and it is believed that the case will be carried into the supreme court of the United States before it is finally adjudicated.

DELEGATES TO DENVER CONVENTIONS COMING

"From the many state and national conventions booked for Denver during this month Colorado Springs may expect a large number of visitors," Secretary Henry Russell Wray, of the Springs' Chamber of Commerce said last night. "We will invite all of them to come collectively or individually, and we will find a means of entertainment for all who take us at our word. We ought to get a fair per cent of all who visit the capital city to attend the Colorado Editorial association, the National Wool Growers and American Stock Growers associations and the Y. M. C. A. state convention."

ARTIST CONCERT TONIGHT FOR MONTCALME SANATORIUM.

An excellent concert will be given at the Temple theater tonight for the benefit of Montcalme sanatorium at Manitou. Some of the best of talent from far and near has been secured for the entertainment.

Joe Newman of Denver is booked for several numbers. Miss Ida Myers, one of the sweet singers of the east, will render some favorite selections. Among other artists who will assist are Mrs. Genevra Waters Baker, violinist; Mrs. Otis B. Spencer, soprano, and Miss Jeanette Ziegler, elocutionist, all of Denver. Two well known local singers, J. D. Braidwood and A. D. Aitken, will also take part.

MARKET IS FIRM

Trading Is Light, the Usual Holiday Dullness Still Being in Evidence.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The market was firm for the greater part of the day, there being at first a slightly easier feeling, which continued until through the first half hour of trading. This decline was influenced by liberal receipts in the northwest and local traders sold freely. The opening of May was a shade lower to a point higher at 85¼ to 85 and before the end of the first hour the prices had eased off to 84⅞. Higher prices at Liverpool said to be caused by smaller shipments from Russia and ports on the Danube together with buying by leading bulls brought about a reaction and just as made a fair rally. Many of the cash sellers became buyers and this aided in the creation of a firmer feeling. The total volume of trading however was not large. The dullness of the holidays was still in evidence. For May the highest point of the day was reached at 85⅝@⅞. The close was firm with May at 85⅛.

Despite lower cables and liberal receipts the corn market was steady throughout the day. Large clearances and predictions of wet weather for the corn belt were particular influences. The close was steady. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 41@41¼ sold up to 41⅜ and closed at 41⅛.

The demand for commission houses caused a firm feeling in the oats market. May opened a shade higher at 32¼@32⅜ sold up to 32⅝ and closed at 32⅝.

Provisions were steady and quiet. The trading of a prominent commission house which bought January lard and ribs and sold the May option on them both, was the feature of trading. A five-cent advance in the price of live hogs lent strength to the market. At the close May pork was up 2½ at $13.77½. Lard and ribs were each unchanged at 5@7½ and 5@7½ respectively.

WANTS TO TAKE CASE TO U. S. CIRCUIT COURT

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—A petition in the case of the New Haven Gold Mining company vs. Hilton, for removal to the United States circuit court, at Denver, was filed in the district court today by the defendants on the ground that he is a non-resident of the state. The action grows out of the sale of the New Haven property for a few hundred dollars to satisfy an indebtedness of which the New Haven officers apparently were not cognizant until it had been made. Hilton, a resident of Illinois, was the buyer.

MONEY EASIER

A Broad and Active Market With New Evidences of Strength.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The action of the stock market today indicated rather more conservatism in the speculation than was the case last week, even while money rates were ruling at 6 per cent level. The specialties made progress today and there was a broad and active market with signs of evidence of strength. The strength, however, was in spots and the market showed a large degree of irregularity due to the presence of profit taking in some of the principal market leaders of last week. The action of the market also showed the strain of maintaining the speculative position in the face of long deferred liquidation of stocks. The money situation today was appreciably less acute than last week, but nevertheless the market was undeniably stringent. The rate opened at 6 per cent and there was small disposition to yield below 6 per cent while the active operations of the day were still in progress and belated borrowers made a late rate of 70 per cent. This was a distinct disappointment to the bears of some of the holders of last week's speculations. The money market was less effected today than was hoped by the large disbursements of dividend and interest money, for which provision has been making by the accumulation of cash and by the release of sums gathered from trust companies to strengthen their showing for the annual statement. Such relief as is to be looked for from these sources should speedily, promptly and further relaxation which is hoped for from other causes will come into effect upon Monday. The payment of the subtreasury on Saturday of $2,500,000 for transfer to San Francisco proved a disagreeable surprise and helped to contract the credit balance of the government institution at the banking house this morning which is estimated at $221,400. Without collecting this, the banks have already lost to the subtreasury since the bank statement $1,700,000, the customs collections of the government running to very large amounts from day to day. The government interest payable January 1, was paid in anticipation on the middle of the month. The decision of the treasury department to pay at once the government interest due February 1, provided only a small offsetting influence, the total amount of this interest being only $1,700,000.

The money situation in foreign markets, however, eased decisively. Discounts declined at London, Paris and Berlin, sterling exchange rose at Paris and Berlin and there was a sharp marking down in the price of gold in the London market. The Berlin situation was considered improved and continental money markets were relieved accordingly. New York exchange at Chicago, which had been ruling at a discount, rose to a small premium today. Some stress was laid on the fact that wagers on the mayoralty election in New York, which were held up on account of contest were paid off today.

Some special effect was produced on sentiment by the manifest pressure upon the United States Steel stocks, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper, which were influential leaders of last week's advance. The recovery in the money rate on the demand from belated borrowers, late in the day, added to disappointment over the small outside participation in the market induced general throwing over of stocks in final hours, which carried the average level below Saturday and wiped out many of the earlier gains. The closing tone was irregular. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,415,000.

United States 3s coupon advanced ½, while the old 4s coupon declined 1 per cent.

BILL NYE SHIPMENT IS READY TO GO OUT

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—The first consignment of ore shipped from the new shoot struck by the Metallic Mining company, a Cleveland crowd, in the Bill Nye claim of Copper mountain, two miles north of this city, and, therefore, two miles from the recognized producing belt, will be shipped this week, probably tomorrow. It will fill two cars and is expected to yield from $75 to $90 in gold to the ton.

Development of the body has proceeded horizontally for over 50 feet on the 185-foot level. Throughout this distance it has a width of one to four feet. It has been followed by raise and winze and while its quality is a shade better in the winze than at other points it seems to be of marketable grade throughout. The principal values are in sylvanite. A crosscut is proceeding from near the shaft on the same level to intercept the shoot 170 feet from the present scene of exploration. It will be necessary to drive about 40 feet.

PIERCE FINDS GOOD ORE IN NORWAY

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—Thomas K. Pierce, former superintendent of the Lenaconing mine and former member of the police force, has made a gold strike in Norway that promises to enrich him and his father. Pierce and his family went to his old home 100 miles from Christiania last July. He had not been there since he was 16 years old. In looking over his father's place he discovered a body of black granite quartz, four feet wide. Upon his arrival here he turned the mineral over to an assayer for test. The certificate showed that it was worth from $20 to $100 to the ton.

PRODUCTION OF MINES IS TO BE INCREASED.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 1.—Production at several mines of the district will be increased during the year, not only through the development of ore shoots now exposed, but from the desire to make the properties more profitable than they have been. Plans to this end have been discussed by officers of several companies.

Robbins ON THE CORNER

The Heavens in January

By PROF. OOLITLE, Astronomer of the University of Pennsylvania

THE whole sky is now filled with the magnificent winter constellations. Orion, or the Hunter, the most striking group of all, is exactly south and will be easily recognized by the three very bright stars which form the hunter's belt. Above Orion is the beautiful group Taurus, or the Bull, and still farther up in the sky, especially on clear, dry nights, there shines the golden colored Capella, a wonderful, brilliant, distant sun which emits as much light as our sun does.

To the west of Taurus is the beautiful mid-winter group, Gemini or the Twins; still farther east the bright group Leo or the Sickle may be seen now entering the early evening sky for the first time this winter, while between Gemini and Leo there lies the strange, faint, little constellation Cancer, the faintest of all the groups of the Zodiac, through which the Chaldeans supposed that the souls of men descended from heaven into human bodies. Southeast of Orion is the Greater Dog star Sirius, a star which appears to us to be the most brilliant of all the stars of the sky, although actually it is not remarkably bright. Its great brilliance is caused partly by its comparative nearness to us, only two or three others having so far as is yet known, a smaller distance. The star is about three times as large as our sun and it is forty times brighter. It is approaching us at the rate of nearly ten miles a second.

A little above Sirius and to the east another very brilliant bluish star will at once be noticed. This is the Lesser Dog star, Procyon, which is also a great sun even larger than Sirius though not actually so bright. It is but slightly farther away from us than the Greater Dog star, and is, like that body, rapidly approaching us, its velocity being nearly six miles a second.

The Milky Way will be seen appearing above the ground between the Two Dog stars in the southeast, and encircling the beautiful Capella directly overhead. The point in which it meets the ground in the northwest is marked by the beautiful Northern Cross, which is now just beginning to disappear, to be seen no more until next May.

Just below Orion may be traced out the two delicate, little known, constellations of Lepus or the Hare, and Columbia or the Dove. The first of these is supposed to be fleeing from the hunter directly above, while the second is the dove set free by Noah, the ark being the small group of stars in the Milky Way to the east of Canis Major.

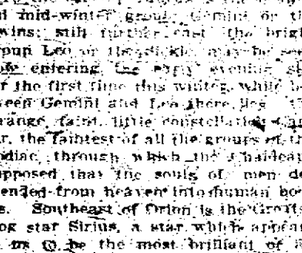

FIG. 2—Part of Fig. 1 enlarged to show position of Neptune.

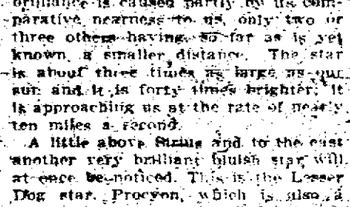

FIG. 3—Comparative sizes of the Sun as seen from the Earth, Jupiter and Neptune.

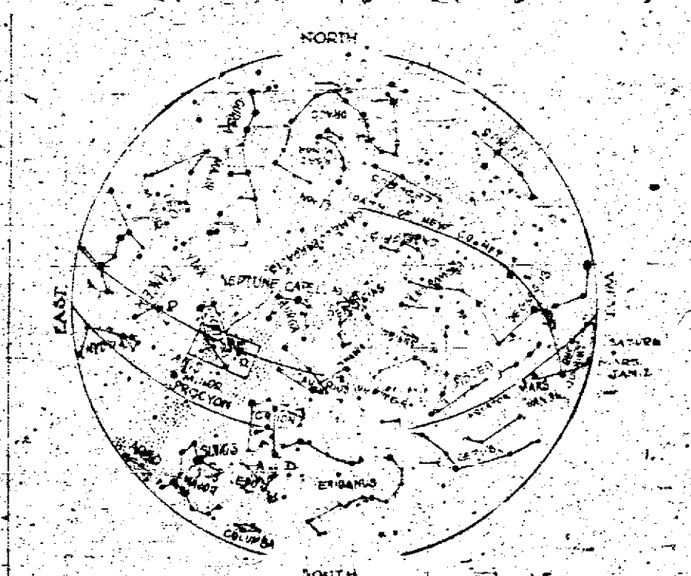

FIG. 1—The Constellations at 9 p. m. January 1.

The two highest stars of Lepus at A and B are both beautiful doubles, while that at C is triple. At the point D almost in a straight line with A and C there will be found a celebrated crimson star. This is described as looking like a drop of blood on a black field. Its brightness varies in a very irregular manner from the 5 magnitude to the 8½ magnitude, the complete period being about 428 days.

Beside these the observer should not fail to examine the cluster at P, nor the magnificent Nebula of Orion.

The Planets.

The very rapid eastward motion of Mars still continues so that it will remain well visible throughout the entire month. It is too low down in the west, however, and too far away from us for the markings on the disc to be made out, or for the two moons to be seen. In the telescope the planet now appears very far from round, resembling the moon when about four days from full.

Saturn is an excellent object for observation in the early evening. It does not set until half-past 8, and as the stars are clearly visible in mid-winter by 5 o'clock it may be well examined for two or three hours after sunset. The rings are now slowly closing up, because we are moving toward a position from which we view them edgewise. This narrowing will continue until June 9th, when their width will appear to be but one-twentieth of their length, after which they will begin to open out again, but we will not view them exactly edgewise this year. During January their apparent width will decrease from one-sixth to one-eleventh of their length.

The planet Neptune is in the constellation Gemini, directly below the bright star E, Fig. 1, and east of the pair of stars at R. To enable the possessor of a small telescope to find this little body, the portion of the sky below E is shown enlarged in Fig. 2. The planet will be seen as a faint, greenish, 8th magnitude star a little to the west of the yellowish star K. Neptune is a great world, 36,000 miles in diameter, moving slowly and majestically about the sun at the inconceivably great distance of 2,800 millions of miles. Viewed from this enormous distance Mercury, Venus, the Earth and Mars would be so close to our sun as to remain forever invisible, while the sun itself would look like a point of light and could only be discovered to have a disc with the aid of a telescope. Like Jupiter and Saturn, Neptune is exceedingly light, a cubic foot of Neptune weighing but one-fifth as much as a cubic foot of the earth, from which it is supposed that the planet is still intensely hot and in a gaseous or vaporized state. It will be remembered that Neptune was discovered by its pull on the planet Uranus, and that its size and position in the sky were known with perfect accuracy before it had ever been discovered with the telescope. There is some evidence that the motion of Neptune is being similarly disturbed by a still more distant planet, but Neptune moves so very slowly, its year being 164 of our years long, that this question cannot be thoroughly investigated for some time to come. If another body is there, it is not the slightest doubt that it will some day be discovered mathematically, just as Neptune has been, unless, indeed, it is accidentally picked up with the telescope. For this far distant world, whose journey around the sun may occupy centuries, the appropriate name, Chronos or the Timekeeper has been suggested.

The stars marked D in Fig. 2 are beautiful double stars, the one marked T is a triple and also varies in brightness about one whole magnitude every ten days.

The planet Jupiter is still in Taurus, between the Hyades and the Pleiades. Its westward motion around the stars will cease the 24th of the month and it will begin to move slowly, eastward again. This planet is now the most interesting object in the sky to the owner of a small telescope. The reddish-tinted bands lying nearly parallel to the equator and the great variety of irregular markings are plainly visible and will be seen rapidly shifting their positions as the planet turns on its axis. Near the planet there will be detected four little points of light which are the four brightest moons of Jupiter, and these, too, will be seen constantly altering their positions as the hours go by. The swiftly turning planet with its retinue of satellites is one of the most beautiful and interesting of all the objects in the heavens.

The moons of Jupiter frequently pass behind the planet and disappear from view. Since Jupiter shines merely by reflected sunlight, just as our moon does, it is attended by an enormous conical shadow stretching out into space directly away from the sun. The motion of the moons frequently carries them into this shadow and they are then eclipsed. Fig. 4 shows on the proper scale this shadow with the orbits of the moons of the planet. On nearly every night of this month one or more moons may be seen to be eclipsed by passing into this shadow. It was from these eclipses that the velocity of light was discovered by the Danish astronomer, Roemer, in 1675. Since the earth moves about the sun in an orbit of 185 millions of miles in diameter it follows that our distance from Jupiter varies by just this amount. Now it is noticed that when we are nearest the planet the eclipses of his moons occur 8h. 19s. early and when we are farthest away just 8m. 19s. late. As we draw near the planet the eclipses occur earlier and as we recede they fall more and more behind time. Evidently this will be fully accounted for by assuming that the light by which we view the satellites requires an appreciable time to make the journey to us. It is found that when we decrease our distance from Jupiter 185 million miles the eclipses occur just 16m. 38s. late, from which the velocity of light is found to be 186,300 miles per second.

Fig. 5 shows the moons as they will appear at 10 o'clock p. m., eastern time, on six different dates during the month. It will be noticed that on the 15th, 25th and 29th the outer moon is at a great distance from the planet. In a small telescope, or even in a good pair of opera glasses, it will then be clearly visible.

The New Comet.

On November 17th a bright new comet was discovered by Dr. Schaer of Geneva, Switzerland. It was then within four degrees of the North pole of the heavens, and in extraordinarily rapid motion, so that by December 4th it had passed entirely across the sky to a point below the equator. The path of this body between November 17th and December 4 is shown in Fig. 1. It was a small, round, woolly object without any tail, which had passed around the sun on October 18, and is now rapidly receding from us. Unfortunately at the time this paper is written (December 4), its motion during January cannot be predicted.

LESSEES FIND ORE ON STRATTON BLOCK 248

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—An ore shoot has been struck by lessees on block 248 of the Stratton estate on Bull hill, near the Silver Tip. They sunk to the 100-foot point, where a phonolyte shoot four feet wide was encountered. Its gold content is of the average. Ore is being raised by windlass and a carload shipment may be made in a few days.

The 100-foot point in the Silver Tip shaft has been attained by Harrison & Co., lessees. A drift is proceeding south and a crosscut is being driven northeast to reach the dyke, where it is believed an ore shoot will be found. The south drift is reaching for a shoot opened at the 40 foot depth.

DILLENBACK AGENT OF TRILBY COMPANY.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 2.—C. J. Dillenback has been appointed business agent of the Trilby Gold Mining company, which recently bought the Trilby mine of Bull hill from the Moose company for $110,000. The company is shipping from seven to nine carloads of ore a week.

Glasgow runs its own trolleys, earns $1,000,000 a year, carries 57,000,000 people a year at a one-cent fare, with better public service than we Americans get for five cents.

All England and Germany are moving in this direction conservatively, as English and Germans do, but surely.

The want pages are regularly and assiduously read by a large number of people, and it is therefore reasonable to believe that a few small advertisements scattered through them would bring profitable results to the man who later who is endeavoring to reach the general public. They would be all persons to be noticed and read by many who are not particularly impressed by display advertisements, but who have formed the habit of following the "wants," and should be remembered by every. That as a rule, this class of people is on the lookout for some special feature, such as bargains or novelties, and as the advertisements inserted in the "want pages" should be prepared to meet this condition. Such a re[illegible] of the display advertising would be worth more than its small cost.

The ball committee has arranged to make tomorrow night's dance one of the best of the season, and at that time a number of special musical features will be presented.

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots, without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.
